

"The Best Video Football Game In The World."

When the guys at Leland sat down to design my new video football game, Team Quarterback, the goal was to make the best game ever.

I'm satisfied that they have done just that. The design reflects everything I wanted out of a video football game and I feel it is the best video football game in the world today.

Introducing John Elway's Team Quarterback

Designed by the Leland Corporation, Team Quarterback is the most realistic video football game on the market today.

Team Quarterback packs wall to wall action in fast moving competition which keeps football fanatics coming back for more!

With Team Quarterback, players are in complete control of all the action right from the starting whistle! Players call their own plays, sweeps, shotgun, blitzes, onside kicks, throwing the bomb, reverses, draw plays, pitches ... you name it Team Quarterback has it! (Yes, we even have high-fives in this one.)

Designed for up to four players, Team Quarterback is extremely versatile! It lets a lone player test his football skills against the game's formidable designers, or two players can team up against the computer. Any way you put it together, Team Quarterback provides hour after hour of great football action.

The exclusive individual stat storage feature keeps players coming back for new and even more challenging games. This is real football with game play that could only come from the people at Leland Corporation.

So put John Elway's Team Quarterback on your team and start scoring higher profits. For more information on this great video football game call your nearest Leland distributor.
